

This is Fall at Ghost Ranch, Abiquiu ... Can you picture yourself here?

From their Statement of Vision: "Ghost Ranch is called to be...an open place for body, mind and spirit...a place to wonder, to challenge, to create, to explore..."

This is the area where Georgia O'Keeffe did her most remembered work. Like her, you will appreciate this place for the rugged beauty of the mesas, the unexpected pools of water and the refreshing afternoon showers followed by breath-taking sunsets.

Ghost Ranch in Abiquiu is far from the matters of the everyday world. The landscape is washed in hues of sienna, olive, ochre, gamboge and Indian red. As were the native peoples, artists have been drawn to this place for many years. There is something about the lighting that arouses the creative spirit.

Time spent at Ghost Ranch is time well spent...artistically, spiritually, playfully. Get in touch with your inner Spirit here.

A retreat is very different from the run-of-the-mill art workshop. Most art workshops confine the group in a window-less room where they share work tables. Artists view demonstrations, have time for individual painting and at the close of the day everyone goes their separate way home, and return the next morning.

A retreat is a restoration process. A renewal.

We come, we share, we experience incredible scenery, and we learn. A retreat gives us permission to escape from our ordinary world even if only for a few days. We build new professional friendships as we eat together, laugh together, create together and spend quality time with the other participants from all over the country. We stretch our thinking...our concepts of art. We stretch our imagination and just maybe we sense a deeper purpose to our art work.

Ghost Ranch, Abiquiu is 65 miles northwest of Santa Fe. (Abiquiu is not the same as Albuquerque –although Albuquerque is the major airport). It is remote...in fact, there is really nothing around Ghost Ranch but scenery, so they will feed us all our meals in the Ghost Ranch Dining Hall (and the vegetarian ones are fabulous!).
